CHANGES TO THE ENGLISH AND MATHS REGULAR MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR APPRENTICESHIP STARTS FROM 21 SEPTEMBER 2018 AND APPRENTICESHIPS REMAINING INCOMPLETE ON 21 SEPTEMBER 2018.

Modifications to SASE came into effect on 21 September 2018. Accordingly, SASE publication DFE-00236-2018 applies both to new Apprenticeship starts from 21 September 2018 and all Apprenticeships commenced before this date and not completed by 21 September 2018.

The SASE modifications have further extended the list of qualifications that meet the minimum English and Maths requirements. This now allows for the acceptance of a wider range of UK-wide qualifications and also certain international qualifications, where these are supported by a suitable NARIC Statement of Comparability.

Full details relating to the exceptions eligibility criteria are contained in:

Section 5 of SASE for Intermediate Level Apprenticeships
Section 31 of SASE for Advanced Level Apprenticeships

Please note that some frameworks may have English and Maths grade/level requirements that are above the SASE regular minimum requirements. The exceptions relating to the use of British Sign Language or Entry Level 3 qualifications, detailed above, do not apply to industry-specific minimum entry requirements.

Please check specific framework documents to ascertain where this is the case and/or check directly with the Issuing Authority responsible for the framework.

Please note that the Transferable Skills tables within this document have not been updated to reflect the recent SASE changes and do not include the expanded range of acceptable qualifications. Refer to SASE for a full list of acceptable qualifications.

Short description

This framework at level 2 and 3 has been developed with the support of Her Majesty's Court & Tribunal Service (HMCTS) and the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) and forms part of the Justice system's plan to develop a clear framework of qualifications for the sector. It is designed to provide a work based entry route into specific occupations within Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services, upskill the existing workforce and replace those who leave or retire. At level 2 staff will work in an administrative role within a Court, Tribunal or Prosecution service. The framework will either give a broad understanding of the Civil & Criminal Justice System or a more detailed understanding of criminal prosecution depending on the pathway chosen. At level 3 staff will work in an operational role that supports the day to day running of the court or tribunal.

Proposer of this framework

This framework was proposed by Ministry of Justice (MoJ), Crown Prosecution Service (CPS), Her Majesty's Court & Tribunal Service (HMCTS) and the Scottish Court Service. It has been developed in order to meet the skills needs of the sector as a whole and to professionalise the service. Employer input was collected through employer engagement meetings which gathered the views of a wide range of individuals and organisations. The results of all the combined consultation informed the content and structure of this framework. The process was overseen by a steering group of key individuals representing HMCTS and CPS. The competence and knowledge qualifications in this framework are underpinned by National Occupational Standards (NOS).

Purpose of this framework

Summary of the purpose of the framework

"Definition of Apprenticeships"

1. An Apprenticeship is a job with an accompanying skills development programme designed by employers in the sector. It allows the apprentice to gain technical knowledge and real practical experience, along with functional and personal skills, required for their immediate job and future career. These are acquired through a mix of learning in the workplace, formal off the job training and the opportunity to practice and embed new skills in a real work context. This broader mix differentiates the Apprenticeship experience from training delivered to meet narrowly focused job needs.
2. All apprentices commencing their Apprenticeship must have an Apprenticeship Agreement between the employer and the apprentice. This can be used to reinforce the understanding of the requirements of the Apprenticeship.
3. On completion of the Apprenticeship the apprentice must be able to undertake the full range of duties, in the range of circumstances appropriate to the job, confidently and competently to the standard set by the industry.

Profile of the Sector

There are currently more than 23,000 staff that work in the support and administration of the Courts and Tribunals across the UK. The Crown Prosecution Service as the principal prosecuting authority in England and Wales employ around 8400 staff.

Administration plays a crucial part in the day to day running of the Judicial system. Staff work as administrators under a variety of different job titles within a Court, Tribunal or Prosecution service. Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services are part of the wider Justice system which in total employs up to half a million people in Policing and Law Enforcement, Community Justice, Custodial Care and Forensic Science.

The Justice system in general faces a number of challenges to attract more people from Black & Minority Ethnic (BME) groups into the sector and to upskill the existing workforce. However within the Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services the proportion of BME workers is higher than the UK economy as a whole. Nevertheless there are a number of workforce challenges:

- twenty per cent of the workforce is qualified below level 2 or does not have any qualifications and amongst this group there is a need to develop literacy and numeracy skills
- ICT skills are a priority for the sector to cope with the demand for sharing secure information due to the significant increase in communication via email, use of organisation intranets and a general move towards ICT business communication which has affected all sectors over the last two decades

- a significant number of employers report a decreased number of applicants to Justice sector jobs, especially in those roles not widely understood. Perceptions, by some, of the sector may be limiting the number of applicants
- people wishing to enter the sector are often unaware of the breadth of opportunity and different roles that the Justice sector offers, as well as the scope of career pathways from these roles, in particular the ways in which they could enter one area of the Justice sector by transferring skills gained in another area of Justice
- in particular, there is an issue with the sector not reflecting the community it is serving in terms of a more diverse ethnic make-up. Currently, 95% of people working within the Justice sector are white and just over half of the workforce is male

The vision for the Justice sector is to have a framework of flexible qualifications for all staff which meets the skills priorities for the sector, and which adds value and offers opportunities for career progression and transfer to other roles across the sector. This framework has therefore been developed with the help of employers to include the new mandatory qualifications for all those working in Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services in order to meet their skills needs and professionalise the service.

Intermediate Level Apprenticeship

The Intermediate Level Apprenticeship framework is of enormous strategic benefit as it will give staff within Her Majesty's Court & Tribunal Service (HMCTS) and Crown Prosecution Service (CPS), key agencies within the Criminal Justice System (CJS), access to the same vocational qualification. This promotes the transferability of skills across these organisations. The framework will also recognise the subtle differences between legislation that governs these agencies which perform similar functions within the CJS. This is an unprecedented opportunity for professionalising and joining up the delivery of Justice to the public.

The framework at level 2 is aimed at apprentices who work in an administration role within the Court/Tribunal/Prosecution service. Apprentices, who can be both new or existing members of staff, are expected to undertake a variety of duties including extracting files, filing, data-input onto computers, drafting routine letters, photocopying documents and using fax machines. Dealing with members of the public is a key aspect of the role of administrators as well as working as part of a team. Whilst job titles may vary across the different organisations the roles involve similar working practises and responsibilities.

There are two pathways within this framework, Court & Tribunal Administration pathway and Prosecution Administration pathway:

1. The Court & Tribunal Administration pathway can be used by anyone who is working in an administrative role within a Court/Tribunal/Prosecution service and focuses more generally on the Civil/Criminal Justice System
2. The Prosecution Administration pathway is a more specific pathway for administration staff working within a Prosecution service. This pathway places a greater emphasis on knowledge of the Criminal Prosecution System

Advanced Level Apprenticeship

The Advanced Level Apprenticeship again enables employers to develop staff with transferrable skills that can be redeployed elsewhere in the business as change occurs. The framework at level 3 is aimed at apprentices with some prior knowledge and experience of court and tribunal operations. The types of role that an apprentice will carry out vary greatly depending on the organisation so job titles may vary from those listed. For example someone working within a smaller court may perform a broader range of tasks than someone working in a large court. At Advanced Level apprentices may also have some management responsibilities so the mandatory qualifications will enable the development and assessment of these skills.

The Advanced Level Apprenticeship is for Team Leaders, Clerks of Court and Executive Officers working within courts and tribunals. It will develop the skills needed to perform competently in these roles and the knowledge and understanding of the procedures of the Civil/Criminal Justice System.

This framework will also contribute to meeting the skills priorities for England by:

- providing flexible access to a high quality level 2/3 skills programme, as a real alternative to academic qualifications, for those who prefer this style of learning and achievement
- incorporating skills to improve the levels of general literacy, numeracy and ICT in England
- using technical and competence qualifications, valued by employers, to help their businesses grow
- developing apprentice's employability skills, making them more attractive to all employers whichever career they choose
- developing apprentices' Personal Learning and Thinking Skills, to build their confidence and creativity, improving their social and working lives
- providing a career pathway into jobs and training at intermediate and higher level, to provide the skills which the economy needs to grow
- building on the existing quality learning provision for the Justice sector in England

Aims and objectives of this framework (England)

Aim:

The aim of this framework is to upskill the existing workforce to replace those who leave or retire and to provide a progression route into occupations in Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services. The framework will improve the flexibility of staff so that they are more adaptable, helping them to move into different roles within these services.

Objectives:

- to attract more applicants into Court, Tribunal or Prosecution services at levels 2 and 3 including those from under-represented groups
- to contribute to increasing the number of existing staff qualified to level 2 and above
- to provide a standardised programme of learning and development, incorporating transferable skills which apply across Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services and the wider Justice sector
- to develop problem solving, communication, team working and literacy and numeracy skills, which are a priority for the sector
- to provide opportunities for career progression into management in Court, Tribunal or Prosecution services or the wider Justice sector

Entry conditions for this framework

Apprentices should have attention to detail and be willing to work in a team environment whilst also being willing to work using their own initiative. Apprentices should be keen to work in a legal/justice setting and have an interest in providing excellent customer service.

Where initial assessment is used this should be to identify support and learning needs for apprentices. Initial assessment should not create a barrier to entry.

It should also be noted that, for the majority of roles, successful applicants will be subject to a Disclosure Scotland criminal record check. In addition some designated posts may also be subject to a Criminal Records Bureau Check or a Counter Terrorism Check, depending upon the role and/or location.

Employee rights and responsibilities

Employee Rights and Responsibilities (ERR) is a mandatory part of all Apprenticeships. All apprentices must understand their rights and responsibilities with regards to equal opportunities and health and safety. It is important that all apprentices receive a thorough induction into their organisation. This induction can contribute evidence and examples towards meeting the requirements for ERR. The Skills for Justice Workbook for Apprentices must be completed as part of the Apprenticeship framework. The apprentice must gather evidence and complete the workbook under the supervision and guidance of their assessor/manager.

The course of training in ERR must be aligned to the nine national outcomes which are set out in the Specification of Apprenticeship Standards for England (SASE).

How to meet the requirements for ERR

ERR is a mandatory unit in the knowledge based element (Certificate in Knowledge of Court/Tribunal Administration) of the Apprenticeship framework. Therefore, no additional delivery is needed to cover ERR requirements. Skills for Justice has developed the Workbook for Apprentices which may be used to gather evidence for the unit.

Evidence of achievement of ERR

Apprentices must complete and sign the Apprentice Declaration & Authorisation Form to declare ERR completion when applying for apprenticeship certificates. This form can be found on the Apprenticeships Certificate England website: acecerts.co.uk/web

Employee rights and responsibilities

Employee Rights and Responsibilities (ERR) is a mandatory part of all Apprenticeships. All apprentices must understand their rights and responsibilities with regards to equal opportunities and health and safety. It is important that all apprentices receive a thorough induction into their organisation. This induction can contribute evidence and examples towards meeting the requirements for ERR. The Skills for Justice Workbook for Apprentices must be completed as part of the Apprenticeship framework. The apprentice must gather evidence and complete the workbook under the supervision and guidance of their assessor/manager.

The course of training in ERR must be aligned to the nine national outcomes which are set out in the Specification of Apprenticeship Standards for England (SASE).

How to meet the requirements for ERR

A declaration must be signed and dated by the apprentice, learning provider and employer to confirm that the apprentice has covered the target areas and criteria.

Evidence of achievement of ERR

Apprentices must complete and sign the Apprentice Declaration & Authorisation Form to declare ERR completion when applying for apprenticeship certificates. This form can be found on the Apprenticeships Certificate England website: acecerts.co.uk/web

For a copy of the Skills for Justice Workbook for Apprentices, please see the following link: www.sfjuk.com/sectors/courts-tribunals-prosecution/developing-talent/a-pprenticeships

The remaining sections apply to all levels and pathways within this framework.

How equality and diversity will be met

A key concern of the sector is that it does not reflect the community it serves.

- around 30% of those working in Court, Tribunal & Prosecution Services are male
- the Justice sector workforce has an almost 50/50 balance of males and females. This reflects that of the UK workforce as a whole
- over half of the Justice workforce is between the age of 35 and 54 and around 12% are aged over 55
- Black & Minority Ethnic (BME) staff across the Court and Tribunal service account for 12% of the workforce and 13% for the Prosecution service. This is higher than the UK workforce which is around 9%. It is also significantly higher than the Justice sector average of 5%

Likely reasons which have contributed to this imbalance include:

- a perception of the sector as poorly paid and a perceived lack of career opportunities may be limiting the number of applicants
- people considering entering the sector are often unaware of the breadth of opportunity and different roles that the Justice sector offers, as well as the scope of career pathways on from these roles, in particular the ways in which they could enter one area of the Justice sector by transferring skills gained in another area
- lack of an Apprenticeship route in the past, which offers a high quality standardised programme of training and development within Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services and progression opportunities into the wider Justice sector

In order to address these issues, awareness of Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services and the Justice sector generally as a profession is being raised through:

- producing careers information, advice and guidance including career progression pathways and case studies
- development of Apprenticeships to create progression routes into and from occupations within Court, Tribunal and Prosecution services

Apprenticeships are seen as a vital route to encourage a more diverse range of individuals into the industry, therefore entry conditions to this framework are extremely flexible. Mentoring has been included to offer additional support and increase the chances of apprentices completing the programme, and there is a mandatory unit for equality and diversity.

Training providers and employers MUST comply with the Equality Act 2010 to ensure that applicants are not discriminated against in terms of entry to and promotion within the Industry using the 9 protected characteristics of:

1. age
2. disability
3. gender
4. gender reassignment
5. marriage and civil partnerships
6. pregnancy and maternity
7. race
8. religion and belief
9. sexual orientation

Skills for Justice will monitor take up and achievement of all Apprenticeships as part of their Apprenticeship strategy and take steps to address any barriers to take up and achievement as part of their Sector Qualifications Strategy.

Personal learning and thinking skills assessment and recognition (England)

Summary of Personal Learning and Thinking Skills

There are six Personal, Learning and Thinking Skills (PLTS) that provide a framework for describing the qualities and skills needed for success in learning and life.

Personal Learning and Thinking Skills (PLTS) have been mapped to the competence based/combined qualifications for the Intermediate and Advanced Level frameworks. This mapping gives an indication as to the most likely places where each of the PLTS can be demonstrated. However the PLTS can be demonstrated throughout the whole Apprenticeship. Apprentices must be introduced to PLTS during induction so that they learn to recognise when they are achieving the skills for themselves. Apprentices, line managers and providers must provide examples and evidence in the Workbook for Apprentices of where each of these skills have been demonstrated.

How to meet the requirements for PLTS:

Apprentices must complete and sign the Apprentice Declaration & Authorisation Form to declare PLTS attainment when applying for apprenticeship certificates. This form can be found on the Apprenticeships Certificate England website: acecerts.co.uk/web
