CHANGES TO THE ENGLISH AND MATHS REGULAR MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR APPRENTICESHIP STARTS FROM 22 AUGUST 2017 AND APPRENTICESHIPS REMAINING INCOMPLETE ON 22 AUGUST 2017.

Modifications to SASE came into effect on 22 August 2017. Accordingly, SASE publication DFE-00167-2017 applies both to new Apprenticeship starts from 22 August 2017 and all Apprenticeships commenced before and not completed by 22 August 2017.

The modifications allow for an exemption to the English and Maths regular minimum requirements for people with Special Educational Needs, Learning Difficulties or Disabilities. This means that adjusting the minimum requirements to Entry Level 3 in English and Maths can be considered by the provider, on an individual and case-by-case basis, where all of the conditions of the updated SASE section 18 (Intermediate level) or section 37 (Advanced level) for have been satisfied and can be evidenced.

Full details relating to the exceptions eligibility criteria are contained in:

Sections 15-23 of SASE for Intermediate Level Apprenticeships
Sections 34-42 of SASE for Advanced Level Apprenticeships

When applying this exemption, providers must STILL consider how to enable the Apprentice to access further literacy and numeracy development – including Level 1 and Level 2 courses – as part of their overall training provision.

The modifications to SASE have also extended the list of qualifications that meet the minimum English requirements to allow for a British Sign Language (BSL) qualification, at the appropriate level, to be accepted as an alternative to a qualification in English, where BSL is the primary language of the Apprentice.

Full details relating to BSL acceptance are contained in:

Section 5(f) of SASE for Intermediate Level Apprenticeships
Section 28(f) of SASE for Advanced Level Apprenticeships

Furthermore, the SASE modifications have further extended the list of qualifications that meet the minimum English and Maths requirements to allow for the acceptance of a range of UK-wide qualifications, as an alternative to qualifications gained in England.

Full details relating to the list of acceptable qualifications are contained in:

Sections 5(g-j) and 6(f-i) of SASE for Intermediate Level Apprenticeships
Sections 28(g-j) and 29(f-i) of SASE for Advanced Level Apprenticeships

The modifications include reference to the new numerical grades in the reformed GCSE system and the minimum grade requirements. A grade 4 (new grading) will be considered equivalent to a grade C (old grading). A grade 2 (new grading) will be considered equivalent to a Grade E (old grading).

Full details relating to the numerically graded GCSEs are contained in:

Sections 5 and 6 of SASE for Intermediate Level Apprenticeships
Sections 28 and 29 of SASE for Advanced Level Apprenticeships

Please note that some frameworks may have English and Maths grade/level requirements that are above the SASE regular minimum requirements. The exceptions relating to the use of British Sign Language or Entry Level 3 qualifications, detailed above, do not apply to industry-specific minimum entry requirements. Please check specific framework documents to ascertain where this is the case and/or check directly with the Issuing Authority responsible for the framework.

Purpose of this framework

Summary of the purpose of the framework

Defining Apprenticeships

An Apprenticeship is a job with an accompanying skills development programme under an Apprenticeship Agreement designed by employers in the sector. It allows the apprentice to gain technical knowledge and real practical experience, along with functional and personal skills, required for their immediate job and future career. These are acquired through a mix of learning in the workplace, formal off the job training and the opportunity to practice and embed new skills in a real work context. This broader mix differentiates the Apprenticeship experience from training delivered to meet narrowly focused job needs.

All apprentices commencing their Apprenticeship must have an Apprenticeship Agreement between the employer and the apprentice. This can be used to reinforce the understanding of the requirements of the Apprenticeship.

The minimum hours of employment for an apprentice should be at least 30 hours per week. By exception, where the individual's circumstances or the particular nature of employment in a given sector makes this impossible, then an absolute minimum of 16 hours must be met. In such cases the duration of the Apprenticeship should be extended.

On completion of the Apprenticeship, the apprentice must be able to undertake the full range of duties, in the range of circumstances appropriate to the job, confidently and competently to the standard set by the industry.

Claims for Apprenticeship Completion Certificates in England are managed through an online system called Apprenticeship Certificates England (ACE). <https://acecerts.co.uk/login>. This will specify the evidence required for claiming a completion certificate.

The Hospitality Industry

The Hospitality industry covers hotels, restaurants, pubs, bars and nightclubs, hospitality services, youth/backpacker hostels, holiday centres and self catering accommodation. It operates across well known chains and in small businesses, including owner/operators, which make up just under three quarters of employers. The industry is a big employer and contributes around £30bn to the English economy each year.

Hospitality is part of the wider leisure, travel and tourism sector which needs to recruit 855,000 staff by the year 2017 to replace those who leave or retire. The industry is facing a number of key challenges to make sure that staff have the right skills and, once trained, they stay and develop their skills to fulfill their career ambitions, contributing to increased productivity and business profitability. The key challenges, which this framework will help to address include:

- although the industry is well known for providing training, only 3% of the training leads to formal qualifications which are nationally recognised and this is likely to have had an impact on staff motivation and retention;
- the industry finds it difficult to attract people who have the right skills for the job, mainly because there is a perception that the sector provides casual jobs, but does not offer long-term career opportunities. This leads to high staff turnover and increased costs on the business to replace those who leave or retire;
- whilst the industry employs a high percentage of young staff and the average age of a manager is under 30 years old in parts of the industry, over half of these managers do not have formal qualifications for their job and this framework provides a progression route into higher level management jobs;
- there are currently over 677,000 managers and projections estimate a further 174,000 being required by 2017. Management and leadership skills gaps continue to become more acute, despite the fact that over two-thirds of employers are carrying out training of their staff in this area;
- the industry relies on excellent customer service to provide a welcoming and pleasant experience for customers and these skills need to be improved so that customers continue to come back;
- the Hospitality industry needs to make the most of the available talent pool by attracting more males into front of house and housekeeping roles, in order to represent its customer base.

Employer support for the Hospitality Management Apprenticeship

Apprenticeships are seen as critical by employers, as they are able to provide apprentices with a ready-made high quality programme which they have helped to design and which gives them the skills they need. These Apprenticeships will encourage entry into the industry, attracting those from diverse groups and provide progression pathways into higher level jobs and into Apprenticeships to upskill the workforce, where currently over half do not have formal qualifications for their job.

Employers have been supporting Hospitality and Catering Apprenticeships for a number of years with around 24,000 level 2 apprentices and 5,000 Level 3 apprentices starting the programme each year in England and this is set to increase. A key reason why the Level 4 pathway has been developed is so that learners will have a structured and recognised programme to follow which will provide opportunities to progress their career and learning in higher level jobs in the Hospitality Industry. By providing nationally recognised qualifications, employability skills and a career route into management, staff are more likely to be more motivated to stay which, in turn, helps businesses to increase their productivity and remain profitable.

Specific job roles for Higher apprentices at Level 4:

Hospitality Management working as:

- Deputy General Manager;
- Front Office Manager;
- Operations Manager;
- Unit Manager.

Aims and objectives of this framework (England)

Aim of this framework

The aim of this framework is to attract and retain people into higher level jobs in Hospitality from a wide range of backgrounds to replace those who leave or retire and provide employers with the skills they need in order to help increase productivity and profitability.

Objectives of this framework are to:

1. Contribute to increasing productivity and performance by helping employers to address their higher level skills needs;
2. Provide a flexible entry route to attract and retain people in the Hospitality industry from under-represented groups, to ensure that the industry represents its customer base;
3. Provide small businesses with access to a high quality training programme to help their businesses remain profitable;
4. Contribute towards professionalising career pathways to jobs, training and qualifications at Level 4 and higher.

Entry conditions for this framework

Apprentices must have significant experience of working at a supervisory level to ensure that they have the necessary foundations on which to further build their knowledge, experience and skills. This can be demonstrated by a portfolio of evidence that they have the potential to complete the Apprenticeship.

Apprentices must also be willing to work unsocial hours.

Examples of entry conditions for this pathway include:

- Advanced Level Apprenticeship in Hospitality - Hospitality Supervision and Leadership pathway; OR
- Advanced Level Apprenticeship in Licensed Hospitality Management; OR
- Level 3 Certificate in Hospitality Business Management; OR

Initial Assessment

Training providers and employers will use initial assessment to ensure that applicants have a fair opportunity to demonstrate their ability and to tailor programmes to meet individual needs. This process will identify prior qualifications and experience which may count towards achievement of the framework. Where this is the case, apprentices will be encouraged to undertake new learning at a higher level and develop new skills.

Relationship between competence and knowledge qualifications

All job roles in this pathway:

1. Competence qualification: Level 4 Diploma in Hospitality Management;
2. Employers have the choice of one of the following knowledge qualifications depending on the nature and size of the business:
 - Knowledge qualification: Level 4 Diploma in Principles of Hospitality Management: This qualification is more suited to those working in larger businesses and recognises that some decisions are beyond the limits of authority for those working at level 4.
 - Knowledge qualification: Level 4 Diploma in Advanced Hospitality and Tourism Management: This is aimed at those businesses who need their managers to have more of a wider strategic overview of the business. These are often smaller businesses where the manager at this level has more decision making powers and therefore requires a wider breadth of knowledge in their role.

The knowledge qualifications support key areas of knowledge development needed for apprentices in this role including:

- understanding the market in which an organisation operates;
- understanding leadership and management in hospitality organisations.

Apprentices who have already achieved competence and/or knowledge qualifications before entry to the Apprenticeship, must select options which will equip Apprentices with new skills and learning.

Apprentices do not have to select the same Awarding Organisation for both the competence and knowledge qualifications.

The remaining sections apply to all levels and pathways within this framework.

How equality and diversity will be met

The Hospitality and Catering Industry is perceived as offering casual work which does not offer long-term career opportunities. This has resulted in a workforce which is transient and view parts of the industry as a temporary stop gap before moving on to other careers.

Age of the workforce

The hospitality industry employs a young workforce, with those working as waiting staff and bar staff tending to be under 30. This is likely to be due to it not being seen as a career choice – some younger employees are doing the job as a 'fill in' until they find something they see as more permanent. The sector also has a high number of students as the hours and lifestyle suit them.

The food and service management, hospitality services and self-catering accommodation/holiday centre industries operate with a slightly different age profile of workers with over half of their workforces being over the age of 40. This is due to the industry employing people who tend to stay for longer. With self-catering accommodation/holiday centres, which includes B&Bs, 20% of the workforce is over 60. These are often run as a 'lifestyle choice' for older people who may have retired from another industry.

Those working in management roles tend to be older, particularly hotel and accommodation, as there is a trend for supervisors and managers to be promoted from within the industry after they have had experience. A relatively high proportion of managers of licensed premises and restaurant and catering managers are under the age of 30 and this is perhaps due to the high turnover rates in these industries – so many people leave that those that actually stay have a relative wealth of experience and therefore get promoted quickly.

Gender

Some areas of food and service management in particular attract female workers who may be returning to the workplace after having children and find that the flexible work patterns are convenient to fit around family commitments. For hospitality managers (i.e. hotel and accommodation managers, conference and exhibition managers, restaurant and catering managers, publicans and managers of licensed premises) the split is roughly 50:50 male to female.

Ethnicity

The sector as a whole is generally representative of the multicultural society in which we live, and has provided perhaps more opportunities for ethnic minorities to achieve economic success than most sectors. Specific industries vary in terms of Black and Minority Ethnic (BME) employees with restaurants employing the highest proportion of BME workers (27%) but only 5% in pubs, bar and nightclubs. Reasons for this low take up are varied and could include the working hours required in this sector.

Profile of apprentices

This is a new pathway at level 4, therefore, take up and achievement figures are not available yet, however, of those apprentices starting the Hospitality and Catering framework at levels 2 and 3 in 2010/11, male/female apprentices were a 50/50 balance which is encouraging.

Actions to redress imbalances in the workforce

Our Apprenticeship Strategy includes raising awareness of the Hospitality Apprenticeships and careers in the industry. The aim is to encourage a wider range of applicants and to support them whilst they are training and includes:

- www.hospitalityguild.co.uk (the People 1st website containing information on jobs, careers and training in the sector) - the intention is that it will allow People 1st to track progress throughout the programme which may result in intervention to ensure the provider, employer or apprentice is given access to support;
- identifying employer champions;
- promoting Apprenticeship Awards to both providers and employers delivering the programme in the sector;
- producing a step-by-step guide to setting up an Apprenticeship Programme aimed at employers;
- DVD highlighting the benefits of an Apprenticeship to both employers and learners;
- working with employers and learning providers to develop case studies highlighting the Apprenticeship and its benefits which have been promoted via our website, external websites, events and newsletters;
- The Women 1st programme, which has developed a network of mentees and mentors as well as 'step-up' training programmes to help support more women reach more senior positions in the sector (www.people1st.co.uk/business-and-training-support/women-1st);
- Employment 1st - nearly 30 large sector employers have signed up to the Service Academy approach, which larger employers felt was an opportunity to take pre-employment training into their own hands in order to maximise the employment opportunities of jobseekers, as well as to benefit smaller employers by providing trained and experienced individuals (www.people1st.co.uk/business-and-training-support/employment-1st).

Apprenticeships are seen as a vital route to attract a greater diversity of individuals into the industry, therefore, entry conditions to this framework have been made extremely flexible. Mentoring has been recommended as part of off the job guided learning to offer additional support to increase the chances of apprentices achieving the framework and staying with the employer.

Training providers and employers MUST comply with the Equality Act 2010 to ensure that applicants are not discriminated against in terms of entry to and promotion within, the Industry, using the 9 protected characteristics of:

1. Age
2. Disability
3. Gender
4. Gender reassignment
5. Marriage and civil partnerships
6. Pregnancy and maternity
7. Race
8. Religion and Belief
9. Sexual orientation

Download the guidance on the Equality Act here:

<http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/advice-and-guidance/new-equality-act-guidance/>

People 1st will monitor take up and achievement of all Apprenticeships through its industry expert groups and take steps to address any barriers to take up and achievement.
