Proposer of this framework

The proposer of this framework is Skills for Health. Where the proposal for the Apprenticeship framework comes from a third party/ies they are provided with information on the requirements for SASE compliance and additional guidance on the development of Apprenticeship frameworks in the Health sector. This guidance is also available by contacting qualifications@skillsforhealth.org.uk

Skills for Health worked with stakeholders to develop qualifications and apprenticeship framework to ensure that these met both employer and SASE requirements. Employers and other stakeholders involved came from the NHS, Independent sector, Qualifications Regulators, Awarding Organisations and training providers.

Awarding Organisation/s included in the framework have completed the Skills for Health Qualifications Dialogue form and Skills for Health has supported these qualifications for inclusion in the Framework. The Qualifications Dialogue form requires the Awarding Organisation to provide a summary of their overall approach to employer engagement, names of employers, sector representatives, professional bodies or statutory regulators consulted in the development. All of this information is then considered by Skills for Health to ascertain whether the qualifications are suitable for inclusion before they are entered into the framework

Purpose of this framework

Summary of the purpose of the framework

Definition:

An Apprenticeship is a job with an accompanying skills development programme designed by employers in the sector. It allows the apprentice to gain technical knowledge and real practical experience along with functional and personal skills, required for their immediate job and future career. These are acquired through a mix of learning in the workplace, formal off the job training and the opportunity to practice and embed new skills in a real work context. On completion of the Apprenticeship, an apprentice will be able to undertake the full range of duties, in the range of circumstances appropriate to the job, confidently and competently to the standard set by the health sector.

About the health sector:

The health sector comprises those working in the NHS (public sector) as well as voluntary and private healthcare providers and employs over 2 million people. The range of roles within the sector is very varied and the NHS careers site lists in the region of 300 different jobs. Individuals are likely to stay within the health sector for the majority of their working lives although they are also likely to change between different job roles and different employers as their career progresses.

Whilst all roles in the health sector are open to both male and female applicants, a large proportion of the health sector workforce is female. This is due in part to the flexible terms and conditions many employers offer but also varies from role to role. As a whole the workforce within the health sector tends to reflect the population within the local community it serves. As the UK population as a whole becomes older and lives longer so does the healthcare workforce. Widening participation policies apply and health sector employers recruit accordingly and may use their apprenticeship schemes as a means to address some of these issues.

There is a range of challenges for the health sector as a whole: an ageing population creates higher demand for services and ongoing care; patients have a greater choice of which services and treatments they access; and the current economic climate means that budgets are tight. Apprenticeships are one of the many ways in which employers within the health sector are seeking to address some of these increasing pressures. A qualified and competent support workforce is vital to the patient experience and to the smooth running of services.

About this framework:

This framework supports the broad vision of the sector to develop an increasingly skilled, flexible and effective workforce whilst maintaining high quality and safe care for patients and addresses specific outcomes of the Skills for Health Sector Skills Assessment 2011.

www.skillsforhealth.org.uk/about-us/resource-library/doc\_download/328-sfh-summary-sector-skills-assessment-2011.html

Skills for Health is committed to engaging with employers, professional bodies and other stakeholders in the development of Apprenticeship frameworks. Engagement and consultation is through meetings including face to face and teleconferences and e-consultation. Consultation ensured that employer views are reflected in this framework on the minimum duration, the on and off the job Guided Learning Hours, the inclusion of ICT functional Skills and the use of a qualification to meet the requirements for ERR and PLTS. Apprentices will learn new skills and knowledge whilst carrying out real work as part of the healthcare team. Each apprentice is employed under terms and conditions laid out in an Apprenticeship Agreement between the employer and apprentice (applicable to all apprenticeships that commence after 6 April 2012) and are paid at least the applicable rate under the Apprenticeship National Minimum Wage.

About the role:

Support workers tend to have delegated responsibility for a range of tasks which enables the Health Professionals (eg nurses, doctors, allied health professionals) and the wider healthcare team to fulfil their own roles more effectively.

Healthcare Support Services play a vital part in the smooth running of healthcare services. Individuals undertaking this framework may have a wide range of job roles eg porter, housekeeper/housekeeping assistant, catering manager /assistant, medical records supervisor/clerk, estate manager/worker, etc (this list is not exhaustive). The combined qualification within the framework has been designed in consultation with representatives from the sector so that it is flexible enough to cater for such a broad range of roles.

These are rewarding support roles with a direct impact on patient experience. They also offer an ideal entry route to a wide range of NHS careers.

Aims and objectives of this framework (England)

The apprenticeship framework will contribute towards developing a health sector with a skilled, flexible and effective workforce whilst maintaining high quality and safe care for patients.

Through completion of this apprenticeship learners will gain:

- Broad base training in the chosen occupational area
- Work experience that leads to competency in the work place
- Transferable Skills

Employers have endorsed the apprenticeship programme as it gives the broad base training in the skills for the occupational area through the completion of qualifications which are based on National Occupational Standards. This programme leads to better productivity, retention and a qualified workforce which aids the employer. Job role and outline can be viewed later in this document (see section 'Jobs').

The framework contributes toward addressing the skills gaps identified in the Skills for Health Sector Skills Assessment 2011.

http://www.skillsforhealth.org.uk/about-us/resource-library/doc\_download/328-sfh-summary-sector-skills-assessment-2011.html

The apprenticeship programme ensures that learners are supported in the application of their learning directly into the workplace. Learners receive a minimum guaranteed amount of on and off the job training and will acquire transferable skills to support further progression.

The framework specifically supports the need to develop the skills and knowledge of workers at Career Framework levels 1 – 3 and provides career progression routes.

Entry conditions for this framework

There are no specific qualifications required for entry to this apprenticeship framework.

Apprentices should:

- Show enthusiasm for working in the health sector
- Have basic literacy, numeracy and communication skills on which the apprenticeship will build
- Have a suitable level of physical fitness to perform some aspects of the job roles (eg assisting in moving and handling of people)
- Be willing to undergo Disclosure and Barring Service checks (this is needed as apprentices are likely to work with children, young people or vulnerable adults)
- Be flexible as there may be a requirement to work shifts

Individual health sector employers may have additional employment entry requirements e.g. a current driving licence would also be an advantage (and may be necessary for some roles).

Initial Assessment

Training providers and employers will use initial assessment to identify prior learning and experience so that they can tailor the Apprentice's Individual Learning Plan only. This initial assessment will not be used to screen out applicants. Employers may use a separate interview or application process to assess an individual's suitability for employment with the health sector.

(See individual pathways for entry conditions at each level)

Progression routes into and from this pathway

PROGRESSION INTO THIS PATHWAY

See Entry Requirements.

PROGRESSION FROM THIS PATHWAY

Learners may progress from this pathway onto further qualifications specific to their work context. A wide range of qualifications are available for use within the health sector. These may include further apprenticeship frameworks (eg Advanced Apprenticeship in Health (Healthcare Support Services), qualifications or other work-related education and training to support Continuing Professional Development.

Progression should not just be seen as vertical. In some instances progressing into another role at the same level may be just as rewarding as it offers the opportunity to develop new skills and knowledge.

Many healthcare support apprentices complete their apprenticeships and continue to work as healthcare support workers in roles relating to the units they have selected within their competence qualification (eg Domestic Assistant, Porter, Catering Assistant, etc).

Others may wish to move into a clinical role and may select to undertake a clinical qualification or apprenticeship (eg Advanced Apprenticeship in Health (Clinical Healthcare Support)).

A Higher Apprenticeship in Health (Assistant Practitioner) is available which an apprentice may proceed onto as they progress in their career if they are able to meet the employment and academic requirements. This will enable them to practice as an Assistant Practitioner.

Further detailed information and advice on careers within the health sector can be found at <http://www.nhscareers.nhs.uk/index.shtml>

Employee rights and responsibilities

Intermediate Apprentices must complete one of the following qualifications :

- NCFE CACHE Level 2 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 600/7215/5)

These qualifications are nationally recognised and were developed specifically to deliver the ERR and PLTS requirements of apprenticeships. Other Awarding Organisations may offer suitable alternative qualifications in future and the framework document will be when these become available.

To meet the ERR requirements of this apprenticeship framework, learners must select and complete the unit 'Understand employment responsibilities and rights in health, social care or children and young people's settings' from the range of units included within the qualification, This qualification may form part of the induction programme offered by employers.

Certification Requirements for ERR

All providers and apprentices must complete the Apprenticeship Consent Form when claiming for the Apprentice's apprenticeship certificate. The universal form covers declarations for the apprentice to:

- confirm the existence of an Apprenticeship Agreement between themselves and their employer;
- confirm their achievement of all ERR requirements;
- confirm their achievement of all 6 PLTS;
- confirm that they have received at least the minimum levels of GLH set out in their framework and have undertaken training both on and off the job.

All apprentices must sign this form at the end of programme to give their authority for the claimant, named on the form, to make a claim, on their behalf, for their Apprenticeship completion certificate.

Progression routes into and from this pathway

PROGRESSION INTO THIS PATHWAY

See Entry Requirements.

Some apprentices may have already undertaken an Intermediate Apprenticeship eg Intermediate Apprenticeship in Health (Healthcare Support Services).

PROGRESSION FROM THIS PATHWAY

On completion of this pathway, learners may progress onto further qualifications specific to their work context. A wide range of qualifications are available for use within the health sector. These may include further qualifications, a range of higher education qualifications or other work-related education and training to support Continuing Professional Development.

Progression should not just be seen as vertical. In some instances progressing into another role at the same level may be just as rewarding as it offers the opportunity to develop new skills and knowledge.

Many healthcare support services apprentices complete their apprenticeships and continue to work as healthcare support workers in roles relating to the units they have selected within their competence qualification (eg Housekeeper/Domestic Supervisor, Senior Porter, Catering Manager, HSDU Technician etc). Many of these roles supervise the work of other team members.

Others may select to undertake further training to move into a clinical role.

To become a Health Professional (eg Nurse, Allied Health Practitioner, Healthcare Scientist) apprentices would have to progress from their apprenticeship to undertake a specific qualification, often a 3-year university Degree, which, on completion, would enable them to register as a professional. To do this, individuals would have to meet the specific entry qualifications as outlined by their chosen Higher Education Provider.

A Higher Apprenticeship in Health (Assistant Practitioner) is available which an apprentice may proceed onto as they progress in their career if they are able to meet the employment and academic requirements. This will enable them to practice as an Assistant Practitioner.

Apprentices who wish to progress into Higher Education are encouraged to complete GCSEs in English and Maths instead of Functional Skills. GCSE qualifications are widely recognised across the Higher Education Sector and support progression into healthcare undergraduate programmes.

Further detailed information and advice on careers within the health sector can be found at <http://www.nhscareers.nhs.uk/index.shtml>

Employee rights and responsibilities

Advanced Apprentices must complete one of the following qualifications:

- NCFE CACHE Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 600/7216/7)
- City & Guilds Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 600/1854/9)
- FAQ Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 601/0957/9)
- Skillsfirst Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 600/6220/4)
- Pearson BTEC Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 600/9666/4)
- IAO Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 601/5971/6)
- iCQ Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 601/4256/X)
- TQUK Level 3 Award in Employment and Personal Learning Skills in Health (qualification number 603/3045/4)

These qualifications are nationally recognised and were developed specifically to deliver the ERR and PLTS requirements of apprenticeships.

To meet the ERR requirements of this apprenticeship framework, learners must select and complete the unit 'Understand employment responsibilities and rights in health, social care or children and young people's settings' from the range of units included within the qualification. This qualification may form part of the induction programme offered by employers.

Certification Requirements for ERR

All providers and apprentices must complete the Apprenticeship Consent Form when claiming for the Apprentice's apprenticeship certificate. The universal form covers declarations for the apprentice to:

- confirm the existence of an Apprenticeship Agreement between themselves and their employer;
- confirm their achievement of all ERR requirements;
- confirm their achievement of all 6 PLTS;
- confirm that they have received at least the minimum levels of GLH set out in their framework and have undertaken training both on and off the job.

All apprentices must sign this form at the end of programme to give their authority for the claimant, named on the form, to make a claim, on their behalf, for their Apprenticeship completion certificate.

The remaining sections apply to all levels and pathways within this framework.

How equality and diversity will be met

There should be open recruitment to apprenticeship frameworks which is available to all who meet the stated selection criteria for the apprenticeship programme they are applying to. Skills for Health expects all partners involved in the delivery of the apprenticeship to comply with the Equality Act 2010 to ensure that applicants are not discriminated against, in terms of entry to and progression within the health sector, using the 9 protected characteristics of:

1. Age
2. Disability
3. Gender reassignment
4. Marriage and civil partnership
5. Pregnancy and maternity
6. Race
7. Religion or Belief
8. Gender
9. Sexual orientation

See more at:

<http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/advice-and-guidance/new-equality-act-guidance>

Skills for Health expect equality, diversity and inclusion to underpin recruitment and employment of all Apprentices in the NHS and through contractual relationships with non-NHS organisations - whether they are directly employed or employed by a third party and undertake placements in NHS setting.

This can be achieved through the use of the Equality Delivery System for the NHS for NHS organisations, or similar equality delivery systems in place with non NHS employers or education providers. The use of such systems ensure that processes for recruitment and uptake are compliant with legal requirements, are fair, inclusive and transparent; that levels of pay are fairly determined; learners are free from abuse, harassment, bullying and violence, and are supported to remain healthy. Above all, Skills for Health will strive to embed equality within its internal organisational processes.

There is a gender imbalance within the health sector, which is a predominantly female workforce. All jobs are open to both males and females and are advertised accordingly. Male role models are positively promoted through marketing materials, photos and case studies. However, a perception that certain job roles are for women remains and this may prevent some males from applying to work in these job roles. Local apprenticeship programmes may be designed by employers to encourage a higher number of male applicants into these roles and into the workforce as a whole.

Skills for Health is not aware of any other imbalance in the take up of this particular framework eg by ethnic groups. For all health apprenticeships local recruitment is encouraged to reflect the local community.

It is recommended that employers/providers conduct an exit interview if the apprentice leaves the programme before completion. During the learner's exit interview, it is recommended that information on learners leaving the programme before completion is identified and used to support the learner and develop the provision where necessary.

Skills for Health will monitor take up and achievement of all Apprenticeships and take steps to address any barriers to take up and achievement as part of our Sector Qualifications Strategy.

On and off the job guided learning (England)

Total GLH for each pathway

Each unit has a different assignment of on and off the job GLH therefore it is not possible to give an exact GLH figure as this will vary depending on the choice and combination of optional units taken by each learner. The figures in this framework document are derived from the lowest possible GLH required whilst still achieving the qualification, but in most instances the learner will receive in excess of the minimum figure for on and off the job GLH.
